Vast Housing Drive Begun by Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (INS)—President Roosevelt, in an open challenge to both labor and industry, today presented Congress with a legislative formula for a national private housing construction program.

The President, in a special message to Congress, recommended general revision of the Housing Act to ease the flow of credit and to induce private capital, through attractive concessions, to engage in a much needed housing construction drive.

The message placed the nation's need at $60,000,000 to $80,000,000 a year.

Such a program, he declared, could play a major role in the recovery movement, but he pointedly placed the responsibility squarely up to labor and industry for its success.

Mr. Roosevelt, himself on a Southern vacation, declared in a special message read by the clerk of both houses.

"The long-continued lag in building is a drag on all industry and trade. This presents an

House Plan In Nutshell

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—This is how President Roosevelt's proposed amendment of the National Housing Act would help the man of moderate income build a home:

The necessary down payment for Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance would be cut in half. On a $5000 house the down payment would be $500 instead of $1000 as at present.

Carrying charges on the mortgage would be cut. Payments on a $5000 30-year mortgage would begin, for instance, at $34 a month instead of $37.11 as under the present Federal Housing Administration schedule.

In addition, the total monthly payment would be reduced more rapidly because the insurance fee now a flat $2.08 a month on a $5000 mortgage, would decline as the principal of the mortgage outstanding was reduced.

Maudie Very Sick, Baby Overweight

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29 (AP)—The "no visitors" sign hung over Maudie's cage at the Cincinnati Zoo today.

Maudie, a hippopotamus, gave birth Saturday to a 50-pound baby, 20 pounds above normal. She is in poor condition, said Dr. Stephen, zoo superintendent.

The offspring, whose sex has not been determined, lies in a pool of circulating warm water, shielded by canvas curtains.

G-Men Scan 2d Johnson Threat

Receipt of a second extortion threat letter by Howard D. Johnson of Quincy, operator of the roadside cafe chain bearing his name, was revealed by Boston police today.

The second letter, now under scrutiny by police detectives and a G-man sent by J. Edgar Hoover's office in Washington, also demands $10,000 and threatens that the money be placed in Franklin Park, Massachusetts, by December 31, 1937, or the letter will be sent to the police.

As in the previous extortion and threat letter, which caused the arrest of two men in Franklin Park early last Wednesday, it was instructed that the money be left in a lunch in the lunch at the Hill Avenue-Columbia road entrance to the park.

Referring to the arrest of Abraham Blum, 62, and Philip Greenfield, 40, both of Westmore road, Worcester, after they allegedly had been seen to pick up the deep package on Wednesday, shortly after midnight, the second letter said:

"We saw the cops and the first work. You didn't follow our instructions."

Leave ten grand in the lunch in the same place, November 30th at 12 o'clock. You should have your business if you pay up."

The letter further instructs that the $10,000 be made up of bills in denominations of $5, $10 and $20.

Where the first letter bears a station A, the second one bears a station B, and where the first letter, the letter being received by Johnson on Saturday.

Held in 50,000.

When Blum and Greenfield were pounced upon by police who leaped from Franklin Park's night shadows, they said they had "just happened" to see the deep package on the bench and had picked it up out of curiosity.

They explained their presence in the park by saying that Blum had driven Greenfield to the park, as Greenfield usually left his car parked there.

The two men were released on $1,000 each and were taken away for hearing on December 9 in West Roxbury court.

Windsor Won't Aid Any Biographer

LONDON, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor's attorney said today that the Duke "has no intention of approving the contents of any biography that may be written about him, nor in his Royal Highness's name prepared to supply information for such biography."

The statement came after an announcement by a publishing firm that negotiations had been under taken to have an authorized life of the Duke written by Graham McKenzie, novelist and historian.

Guard for Anti-Bet Petitions

Dr. Hadley Charges Efforts to Block N. E. Association

State police and an armed truck today were employed to safeguard a petition for the repeal of legalized betting on dog and horse racing in Massachusetts.

Said to contain 33,423 signatures, the initiative petition was filed with Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook at the State House by members of the New England Anti-Gambling Association, Inc.

Fear that underworld characters might attempt to snatch the list prompted the unusual method of conveyance. Dr. Edwin W. Hadley of Cambridge, a leader of the group, asserted.

EXPLAINS GARD
Dr. Hadley, who said another petition calling for separate repeal of the law permitting dog races would be filed tomorrow and reporters.

"It is for good reason that we are protected in this manner. Some persons have been stolen from the several of members of the anti-gambling petition were offered large sums of money to turn over their lists of signatures for destruction."

Referring to the second petition, the anti-gambling leader declared that a "Hoagie" representative of the association had been offered $2500 to petition the signature that he and his helpers had collected in the area.

Declining to name the agent, he predicted that the alleged would-be briber would be subjected to federal indictment.

Dr. Hadley charged that he had been offered the signature of a member of the race track gang and offered a bribe.

QUESTIONS MOTIVES
Meanwhile, Colard W. Crocker, Beacon street attorney prominent in anti-gambling circles, questioned the motives behind another petition for the repeal of the dog racing statute and the retention of pari-mutuel betting on horse races.

He congratulated Geoffrey L. Cabot, long identified as an opponent of gambling in this state, for his deposition of his signature on this petition, recently circulated.

Crocker also made public correspondence from Bernard J. Roth, president of the anti-gambling group, and Dr. C. Gordon Brownell, pastor of Tremont Temple, advocating repeal of both dog and horse racing rather than dog racing alone.

CHIEF EDWARD TIGHE
"No Control"

Police Chief Edward J. Tighe of Revere today definitely laid at the feet of Mayor James M. O'Brien all blame for "rackets" that have brought state and county investigation in the famous beach resort.

This was learned exclusively today at the police head—in the face of denials—was known to have been trying to "get out from under," on a pension if he could; with resignation, otherwise.

Under torrid questioning by Assistant District Attorney Garrett Byrne, assigned by District Attorney William J. Foley, and Boston's "racket busting" Captain James T. Sheehan, requested of Police Commissioner Timothy by Governor Hurley, Tighe told the outside investigators, in effect, that he was police chief but had no control over the "fast money men."

The same investigators questioned Mayor O'Brien on his knowledge of recent happenings in the beach city but were halted by orders of the mayor's physician.

Mayor Calls Tighe Into Conference; Reporters Uncover Important Points

For the first time in two weeks Mayor O'Brien, ill recently and still looking pale and wan, arrived at Revere City Hall today and sent for Police Chief Tighe to appear at his office at 9:30 a. m.

After the mayor had unsuccessfully tried to reach Chief Tighe for more than two hours, the latter arrived at City Hall shortly after noon and the two officials immediately went into conference.

While Chief Tighe would make no comment, Mayor O'Brien told newspapermen that he would make a statement following the conference.

Shortly after his arrival at City Hall, the mayor said: "I have no comment to make. I have not asked for the resignation of Chief Tighe."

To get the true story of the investigation in Revere, the Boston Evening American assigned a corps of reporters over the week-end to find out exactly what was going on.

In addition to the foregoing, it was learned by the reporters that:

1—The mayor personally appointed the two special officers who comprise the Revere police department's racket squad.

2—Chief Tighe informed Sheehan and Byrne that those two

BUSINESS GETS BANKHEAD PLEDGE OF TAX RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (INS)—Speaker Barkley today assured business that tax legislation will be enacted before the next March 28 federal income tax payment date.

"I know business wants assurance, and as far as the House leadership is concerned, it has the assurance that tax legislation will be passed in ample time, possibly earlier than is now anticipated," said Barkley.

The speaker said while immediate consideration of tax legislation might have a beneficial effect on business psychologically, no tax returns before next March 15 would be affected.

One indicating that tax revision will be pushed early in January, Chairman Vinson of the Ways and Means tax subcommittee, said Legislative drafting agencies have begun to put tentative agreements in bill form.

officers had "absolute" charge, responsible only, and directly, to the mayor.

3—Chief Tighe will not be permitted to resign without involving his superiors.

4—Numerous charges of negligence are being prepared, naming Chief Tighe and other Revere authorities.

5—One such charge of negligence definitely involves a Revere police lieutenant who, Captain Sheehan was informed, was seen talking to Louis Gaeta last Monday in front of a Shirley Avenue horse bet, 24 hours before Gaeta was shot to death. It was in this horse bet parlor that Gaeta on the previous Friday was involved in a serious argument with the operator.

6—Another, that the same officer was sent to Boston to take a Revere man into custody and then fired him after taking him as far as Chelsea. This man had been arrested by the special service squad in Boston and had told Boston authorities of Gaeta's argument the previous Friday and of Monday's meeting between the "gambling king" and the police lieutenant.

7—Revere police plan to appear in Chelsea court with a request for a murder warrant for "the man who killed Louis Gaeta," although they had the man's name within a few hours after the killing 10 days ago.

8—A secret meeting of underworld leaders held outside of Revere resulted in sending word out through subterranean channels to the killer to give himself up—and that his surrender must be to the Revere police. (He is known to be friendly with a Boston police captain.)

9—A Revere narcotics pedlar, missing since the day of the Gaeta slaying, is being sought by Captain Sheehan for questioning in connection with the murder. This man, posing as a friend of the dead Revere "gambling king," is alleged to have "put the finger" on Gaeta, telling him he was wanted outside the cafe and leading him into the ambush.

Three Revere men, held overnight by Captain Sheehan for questioning on the technical charge of being armed and dangerous, were released today.

One of the trio was Louis Fox, well-known in Revere sporting circles, and whose arrest had been commented in the North Shore city.

Another of the trio, it was known, was a Revere gambler.

Man Seized in Raid Is Held In $800 Bail; Lawyer Absent

Meanwhile, Charles Reid, arrested by Captain Sheehan and his squad Saturday afternoon in a surprise raid on a Shirley Avenue Revere, gambler, appeared in Chelsea District Court without his counsel.

Reid, reported to be a special officer at times for the Revere police department, was charged with maintaining a gambling saloon and with aiding and promoting a lottery.

Where is your lawyer? asked Judge Paul J. McKeown. "He must be busy," Reid replied.

Said he pleaded not guilty and asked for a week's continuance. Judge McKeown, however, continued the case until Thursday.

After pleading out that continuance until next week the case would not be tried in superior court until the beginning of next year would there be a continuance and appeal.

Said he was held in $800 bail, the maintenance charge and on the other.

At the same time Judge McKeown ordered Reid to appear at a further continuance on Thursday, adding that if said attorney could not be had, Reid would be committed to the Revere house of correction.

Reid was not permitted to appear when his name was first called. In court he was represented by a member of his squad, and Special Prosecutor Byrne.

After the clerk announced the court he had received a telephone call from a Revere attorney, Ham Margolis, stating the defendant would plead not guilty and request a continuance.

Donald held the case for the "second call."

Immediately following Reid's arraignment, Captain Sheehan and his squad left for an unscheduled destination after he had received a special delivery letter. A lieutenant of the Revere Metropolitan District Commission police handed the letter to Revere Mayor Charles C. O'Brien.

Revealed by the Boston Evening American today was a special delivery letter signed "We Want You" and "The Vigilante of Massachusetts," in which it was "demanded" that certain persons be taken before the grand jury on charges of "corruption."

Representative Frederick H. Matthews of Revere contacted today with Special Prosecutor Byrne at the Suffolk County courthouse after which he declined to say anything to a bill calling for the removal of the Revere Metropolitan District Commission from the jurisdiction of that city.

Reports that Chief of Police Tighe had demanded to be permitted to resign or retire on pension became current yesterday following Sheehan's and Byrne's attempted questioning of Mayor O'Brien.

Even before Tighe had issued his report, many in the city were reported to the past Revere's headquarters had it in the knowledge the chief would not be permitted to resign, even if he wanted to.

If Mayor O'Brien permitted him to resign or retire it was stated, the chief would be held financially accountable. Besides, it was pointed out, a Revere city ordinance forbids the resignation of a returned.

Captain James T. Sheehan, Revere "racket buster," on left, confers with his men outside Chelsea courtroom before leaving for an unscheduled destination. Just a few minutes previously a special delivery letter had been brought to Captain Sheehan by a lieutenant of the Metropolitan District Commission station in Revere. Captain Sheehan revealed he planned a "round-up" of Revere racketeers for questioning.

Department of Justice agents it was learned today, are still in Revere checking on tax money sent to the government by racketeers.

In the case of one well-known horse bet room operator, it was learned the men found that he pays more than $2000 in taxes representing an equity of $100,000 to $200,000 in year.

As a result of investigation of Federal agents of the Department of Internal Revenue it was learned several Revere racketeers among the so-called "higher-ups" have paid grand jury fines in connection with alleged income tax evasion.

More than $500 worth of damage was done in the county chambers of the New Town Hall in East Weymouth, the high ceiling of plaster fell from the high ceiling onto valuable furniture which the chambers are furnished.

Officials stated the roof above the room had been leaning for some time. They pointed out also that the walls of the masonry of the room and the water poured into the room had started to bulge. The Town Hall was built ten years ago at a heavy cost.

Several East Weymouth families were harassed and business establishments suffered water damage when the water poured into the room.

Following the gambling raids by state police last February, it was learned, admission cards were distributed and among those receiving them were certain city officials.

The Boston Evening American also learned that strip team raids were held twice a month in a Revere hall and this was known to certain Revere policemen.

Election Called For Jewish Congress

United Drive Against Oppression to Enlist 400 Delegates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (INS)—A direct election for 400 delegates to attend an American Jewish congress to be held later in the month of June to launch a drive against Jewish oppression, was called today by a conference of more than 700 representatives of organizations throughout the country.

In addition to the 400 elected delegates, the delegates will be chosen by national Jewish organizations. Every Jew and Jewess above the age of 18 will be eligible to vote on the elected delegates.

The decision to call the congress was voted after the conference had heard Dr. Benjamin S. Watson, president of the American Jewish Congress, Dr. Louis Lipsky, vice-president, Senator Arthur Capper (R.) of Kansas, Dr. Henry A. Alkman, of the American Committee on the Jews, and others.

The conference adopted a resolution calling upon the federal government to speak out against any form of oppression in behalf of oppressed Jews in Europe.

"DARE NOT WAIT" The "persecution of the Jew," Dr. Watson said, "is symptomatic of the hatred with which the world is fastened upon the Jew. It is blind to the fact that the attack upon the Jew is an attack upon the beginning of the attack upon the Jew."

He said that the attack upon the Jew is an attack upon the beginning of the attack upon the Jew. He said that the attack upon the Jew is an attack upon the beginning of the attack upon the Jew.

Cold Blast Due To Halt Flood

Floods caused by the heavy snow and rain were subsiding today, with falling temperatures tonight expected to end the menace entirely.

Four deaths, numerous injuries and thousands of dollars in property damage rode the storm in New England, considerable of the damage occurring in Weymouth, the Merrimack Valley and at Hartford, Conn.

More than $500 worth of damage was done in the county chambers of the New Town Hall in East Weymouth, the high ceiling of plaster fell from the high ceiling onto valuable furniture which the chambers are furnished.

Officials stated the roof above the room had been leaning for some time. They pointed out also that the walls of the masonry of the room and the water poured into the room had started to bulge. The Town Hall was built ten years ago at a heavy cost.

Several East Weymouth families were harassed and business establishments suffered water damage when the water poured into the room.

Following the gambling raids by state police last February, it was learned, admission cards were distributed and among those receiving them were certain city officials.

The Boston Evening American also learned that strip team raids were held twice a month in a Revere hall and this was known to certain Revere policemen.

The Brighter Side

By DAMON RUNTON

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Nazi and Fascist propaganda, questionable sources of British statements to the Anti-Semite, the failure of rich Jews to help over to realize the importance of rebuilding the Holy Land were responsible for British policy of Palestine, according to Dr. Simon Goldman, rabbi of Temple Anshe Ezer.

Seated before the Chicago Forum's Theatre Hall, the man known as one of the 120 foremost Jews in the world, said:

"I do not blame Britain alone, neither do I blame the Anti-Semite propaganda. I blame ourselves—the Jews. Not the poor Jews but the rich ones throughout the world."

"While the poor and ragged Jews have poured out their pennies the rich ones have failed to understand the importance of rebuilding Palestine. Had the Jews properly supported the great movement from the very beginning we would have had several hundred thousand Jews there in the first three years and this situation would never have developed."

He then said that the German and Italian governments have spent "untold millions" in creating hatred against the Jews.

"The Italians," he said, "followed the German lead, not through hatred of the Jews but of the British. So they have supplemented the Nazi propaganda in the Holy Land with propaganda against both the British and the Jews to the Arabs."

He traced the history of the land and showed that the Jews were always there, excepting during a seven year period from 1260 to 1267, after they had been driven into their temples and burned.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 (INS)—A spectacular fire razed the Edward J. Meyers trucking company, burning 60 trucks and trailers today.

Despite a shower of plate glass, Jack Yaffe, 23, of Howard street, Rosbury, nursed only two slight scratches today, aftermath of a passing argument with an unidentified motorist in Bromfield street.

According to police, the stranger reentered Yaffe backing into a parking space and followed up the argument by pushing him through the window of a haberdashery. His heavy clothes saved Yaffe from serious cuts.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 28 (INS)—Mother love reached across the continent today joining two women in their valiant fight to save the lives of their sons, who are near death from the ravages of the dreaded streptococcus viridans.

In this city, Mrs. Charles Gillette waited for reports from medical authorities, handling the case of Weston Fletcher, 28, in Windsor, Conn. in the hope some means may be found to save the life of her son Warren, 25, at New Haven Hospital.

Cheered by the message of encouragement sent her through the International News Service by Fletcher's mother, Mrs. Gillette said she had not given up hope.

Although offers from hundreds of persons to donate blood have been received from all parts of the country, the mother said no transfusion had been performed on her son.

Damon Runtion

He told us about 27 year old Frederick Smit, who for nearly twenty months has been lying on the flat of his back encased in a sort of steel tank, or chest designed to provide artificial respiration.

Smit is the former Notre Dame man who was stricken on with infantile paralysis in China while on a world tour. He was taken from the tour ship at Shanghai when he came ill and carried by plane to a hospital in Peking. There he was placed in the artificial respirator.

He was brought by ship still in the cast, to the United States, attended by seven Chinese nurses, and taken by special train across country and down to Miami Beach where his father has a palatial winter home on Pine Tree Drive.

TOURS OUT MONEY
The father has a lot of money. He carries on a loan business in Chicago something on the order of the Morris Plan.

"Dad, it's a good thing for me you're rich, or I would have to die," young Smit remarked recently, a smile in his eyes for his despairing father.

The father is pouring out his money like water to save his son. He must have spent a fortune already. The seven Chinese nurses have been replaced in Miami Beach by a complete hospital unit that includes six nurses and a resident physician, but the Chinese cannot get back home on account of the war and the elder Smit is still paying their expenses in this country.

SHOWS SLIGHT GAIN
Smit could not live more than a few moments at most outside the respirator. Almost every muscle of his body was paralyzed at first, including his vocal muscles. Now he can talk and some of his leg muscles are showing slight signs of returning life.

It is thought that if he could be taken out of the steel tank, which permits of no movement of the body by his attendants, or of examination, and placed in bed his chances of recovery would be much greater and that is where Scanlan first took the plunge.

He represents a concern in Sweden that manufactures respirators. It seems the first thing of this kind was made in Sweden 14 years ago, and the first one made in this country was produced in 1920.

Scanlan was on the Pacific Coast when the Smit party arrived in San Francisco from China.

Scanlan went to San Francisco to lend his experience with respirators to the Smit and has been with them ever since. He is now in Miami Beach with young Smit, and he is assisting in an attempt to evolve a respirator that will permit the patient being removed from the contraption that now encloses him and placed in bed.

GIVES HOLIDAY PARTY
Thomas O'Neil of the General Tire Company of Akron, Ohio, knew young Smit when the boy was at Notre Dame and is a neighbor of the Smit in Miami Beach. He has summoned his chief engineer, H. T. Kraft, from Akron to Florida to help in the work, and Kraft himself has been undergoing experiments with a model made of rubber. He had it on for 10 minutes a few days ago.

The idea is a respirator that will fit over the muscles that are to be worked on, leaving the arms and legs and much of the body free, and the experiments so far, Dennis Scanlan says, indicates success in the near future.

In the meantime, young Smit is taking a deep interest in the effort. For that matter, Scanlan says, the patient takes an interest in everything that goes on around him.

He gave a Thanksgiving day party for all his attendants last Thursday evening at a Miami Beach Hotel. He arranged all the details himself down to what they had to eat.

He reads with a book fixed over his head, his attendants turning the pages. He never complains, never is ill natured, and he never gives up fighting. All the good fortune must have died long ago. If he will to live, he will live, and nothing, Frederick Smit will live, and perhaps recover.

Lack of sleep frequently etches need- less lines into beautiful faces. Need- less, because sleeplessness is often caused by constipation, as are also loss of appetite, mental dullness, nervous- ness, the aggravation of skin blemishes, and a host of other troubles.

Announcing TWO NEW FORD V-8 CARS FOR 1938

THE DE LUXE
85 HORSEPOWER

THE STANDARD
60 OR 85 HORSEPOWER

DE LUXE FORD V-8... 112" wheelbase... 85-horsepower engine... Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes... Center-Poise Ride... All-steel body... Mohair or Broadcloth upholstery... Walnut-finished trim... Twin horns, tail lights, sun visors... Clock... 6.00" tires, white sidewalls are extra... 8 body types... 6 colors.

STANDARD FORD V-8... 112" wheelbase... 65 or 85-horsepower engine... Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes... Center-Poise Ride... All-steel body... Broadcloth or Mohair upholstery; Mohair extra in "60"... Mahogany finished trim... One tail light, sun visor... Twin horns... 3 body types... 3 colors.

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance—but both are built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence—on the same 112-inch wheelbase chassis.

PROVED V-8 PERFORMANCE

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, along with the same fundamental Ford advantages. For them, we have designed a new De Luxe line.

The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments. De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine. They provide an added measure of motoring satisfaction at low Ford prices.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well-tailored interiors. It gives you again a choice of V-8 engine sizes—85-horsepower or 60-horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy. The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost.

BOTH LINES LOW PRICED

With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your personal needs exactly.

Whichever one you choose, you get the same proved Ford features. Whatever price you pay, you get a car built soundly to serve you well... That's the Ford way

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.)—Coupe, $399; Tudor, $444; Fordor, $489. Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.)—Coupe, $629; Tudor, $669; Fordor, $714. De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only)—Coupe, $689; Tudor, $729; Fordor, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $749; Convertible Sedan Coupe, $804; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Standard and De Luxe cars equipped with bumpers, bumper guards, spare wheel, tire, tube, tire lock and band, extra lighter, twin horns, and headlight beam indicator on instrument panel, at no extra charge.

In addition, De Luxe cars are equipped with extra tail light, windshield wiper, sun visor; also De Luxe steering wheel, glove compartment lock, clock, and chrome wheel bands, at no extra charge.

Sick Boy's Dime, Mysterious 'H's' $50 Gift Arrive to Help Christmas Basket Fund

Contrasting Persons Have Same Urge To Aid Needy

In the list of contributors to the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser Christmas Basket Fund, the donations of two contrasting personages appear today.

One is an item of 10 cents, a suffering youngster's dime given by one who, happy that his pain is leaving him, wants some other kid to be happy.

The second is an item of $50, the contribution of a mysterious "H" who never, in more than a decade, has failed to send a check for this amount—but with no clue as to whether this understanding donor is man or woman, a well-known or merely one of the mass of the people.

Always with the certified cashier's check, which successfully conceals the donor's identity, comes a terse letter, wishing the Basket Fund another year's success and instructing:

"Please add to your Christmas Basket Fund, crediting same simply to the initial 'H'."

LIVES NEVER BURNED

Contrasting personages, two lives which, perhaps, never have brushed one except through the medium of this philanthropic clearing house between comfort and want.

But they both are thanked heartily—both the mysterious "H" and little Francis Dunn, 5, of Somerville, five-year-old who was seriously burned on Armistice Day.

Turned from thigh to ankle on one leg when his clothing flamed as he and other boys played near a bonfire, little Francis, now recovering at Central Hospital, Somerville, but is in for a long stretch, according to Dr. Edward J. Dwyer.

You can't do much with a dime when you're in a hospital, but when Francis was told about other little kids who were helped by the Christmas Basket Fund, he handed a dime he had given to Nurse Rose Cohen and said he hoped he'd give it to those kids.

These two have done their part. Have YOU done yours? You would if you could read one of the heart-rending letters Uncle Sam continues to pile upon the desk of the Basket Fund editor.

THREE WAYS TO HELP

There are three ways in which you can help. You can contribute cash, sending it or leaving it in the office of the Christmas Basket Fund Editor, 13 Otis street, Boston.

Then you can take the time and address of one or more destitute families from the Christmas Basket Fund editor, at the same address, and furnish the baskets direct to the needy families.

Or you can aid by attending one of the benefit bringers arranged for the Basket Fund, the first of which will be the large and fast-moving show at the Penthouse, atop the Hotel Bradford, next Sunday night.

WARNING

The Boston Evening American - Boston Sunday Advertiser Christmas Basket Fund employs no canvassers, no solicitors and no workers of any kind to collect funds from house-to-house, from office-to-office or on the street.

It has been brought to the attention of this office that some science-locking person has been soliciting in the name of the Christmas Basket Fund. If any such person solicits you in your home, in your office or on the street, in the name of the Fund, notify police or call the Evening American-Sunday Advertiser city editor at Liberty 4000.

A sparkling list of entertainers is being compiled by Tom Marin, the Penthouse master, for this show.

In addition to the regular Penthouse show there will be stellar entertainers from the Boston stages, the broadcast studios and from roof and night club shows—all willing and ready to give their services to relieve suffering and provision.

SHOW PEOPLE LINKED UP

Some of the big-hearted show people already lined up for the excellent entertainment card follow: Frank Ward and his Rhythm of the Dancers Orchestra.

The dancing Hula Sisters.

Melba Clark, to sing.

The Ten Penthouse Adorables.

Anna Blake, dancing trapeze girl in an aerial surprise.

Frank Holland and Aileen Barry, dance specialists.

Tom Fugate and the Tiffany Sisters.

Joy Arden, charming danseuse.

Joe Rubin, brother of Film Comic Benny Rubin, will be master of ceremonies and many more will be added to this list before the week rolls by and the stage is set in a more cheerful at the Penthouse next Sunday night.

Broods of the street show will go to the Christmas Basket Fund and will help feed families such as the one from which a nine-year-old girl penned this wistful letter:

"Won't you please help us this

Francis Dunn, 5, of Somerville, had a dime. There was no use just hanging on to it in the Central Hospital, Somerville, where he is recuperating from serious burns, when it might do other kids some good. So Francis handed it over to Nurse Rose Cohen with instructions it be delivered to the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser Christmas Basket Fund. The Boston Evening American is grateful to Francis.

Will have any work this winter. All of us children will be thankful to you."

SEND CONTRIBUTION NOW

Send to your contributions to the Basket Fund NOW—TODAY. Your return will be an added happiness at Christmas time. Address the Christmas Basket Fund Editor, 13 Otis street, Boston.

In connection with applications for baskets—which should be addressed the same way—applicants are instructed to obtain the endorsement of their priest, minister, rabbi, children's teacher or the family physician.

Applicants should also write their names and addresses PLAINLY and they should be sure to include the number of persons in the family. This is most important.

Lloyd-Wadsworth Ceremony In Winchester Chapel

By BETTY ALDEN

CARRINGTON LLOYD and his bride, the former Virginia Alice Wadsworth of Winchester, led their friends a merry chase Saturday evening. . . Following their wedding at a quiet six o'clock ceremony in the Unitarian Chapel in Winchester, they drove into town to attend a dinner party at the Sheraton Room of the Copley-Plaza. . .

After dinner mischievous friends followed the usual custom and tried to learn the honeymoon plans as they could play a few pranks. . . but the newlyweds succeeded in getting safely away and vanished into the misty night air. . .

All during the evening small groups of would-be pranksters armed with old shoes, pockets full of confetti, and scheming looks in their eyes, returned to the Copley to ask if Mr. and Mrs. Carrington Lloyd were registered there. . . just in case the fugitives had doubled back on their trail. . .

But all the while the happy bride and bridegroom were smiling at each other across a little table-d'aux at the Balinese Room of the Hotel Somerset. . . entirely unnoticed by the throng of merry-makers until Harry Manshard and his musicians struck up the wedding march, and everyone on the dance floor stopped, leaving Carrington and Virginia dancing about in the center of a circle of gay and admiring faces. . .

Those who expected the couple to take a long honeymoon trip were fooled for the time being. . . Carrington is taking his bride to Java, not until the first of the year. . . and in the meantime they are going to enjoy a few short trips around here. . .

The bride changed for dinner, from her bridal lace and satin into a beautiful black gown of sheer metal cloth with bands of gold flowers placed horizontally on the long, full skirt and tight bodice. . . She is a very attractive girl with long, black hair brushed back into a Psyche knot at the back of her neck. . . She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth of Winchester and a graduate of National Park Seminary. . .

The bridegroom, son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Demarest Lloyd of Little Compton, R. I., attended the Country Day School and later studied at Rollins College. . . His first marriage, in January, 1936, to the former Arsene de Rosset of Brookline was terminated in divorce recently. . .

Many Attractive Headdresses

EXCEPT FOR TRACES of coiffure there were no adornments on Mrs. Lloyd's hair. . . but nearly every other girl at the Balinese Room Saturday evening had some sort of fancy headpiece. . . so much so that New Yorkers planning the ball-atete at the St. Regis Hotel tomorrow evening, for a favorite charity, would have found some novel ideas in just a quick glance around the room. . . It seems every woman attending the ball-atete is compelled to wear a headpiece of some sort, the more glamorous the better. . .

Constance Learned's concession to the new style was a filmy veil encrusted with gold sequins, which floated about her shoulders from a tiara of small black feathers. . . Dottie O'Day, who was home from college and doing a bit of celebrating in a foursome with her best beau and her mother and dad, wore a black and gold veil with a cluster of gold leaves on the crown of her hair, and Mrs. Sarah Resnick wore a unique little evening hat of pale blue slipper satin to match her dress. . . the hat was tiny and close fitting, with a huge butterfly bow of the same fabric over one eye. . . One girl wore a midnight blue lace mantilla over her blonde locks. . . and another chose a white netting top to complete her white tulle and silver sequin costume. . . while still another wore a miff of crimson and white flowers to brighten her all white costume. . .

Ruth Edmunds and her escort, Murray Pope, were the first on the dance floor at the beginning of each number. . . in order to do some tricky stunts before the girls were crowded in, they were in a foursome with Susanne Crocker of Milton and Bowen White. . .

Both more wound up than Thanksgiving vacation from Vassar with a party at the Ball room for the girls who poured in to dance earlier that afternoon. . . among her guests were Frances Walker, of Concord; Ruth Houghton, of Wellesley College; Lucy Pope, George Tarbell, of Lincoln; Sylvia Van Ness, Arthur W. Rice, Jr., Leland Measell, Jr., Polly Keltia, and John C. Clement. . .

Gardner Cox to Take Bride

THAT FRIENDLY little circle of art lovers which guides the affairs of our local branch of the Museum of Modern Art, is losing one of its eligible bachelors. . . Gardner Cox of Cambridge is the newest addition to the list of Boston bachelors who are yielding one by one to Cupid's arrows. . .

His engagement to Phyllis Byrne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Byrne of Sutton place, New York, was announced in Gotham yesterday. . . The bride-to-be attended Mrs. Randall McIver's School and also studied in Europe. . . She is a member of the Colony Club. . .

Mr. Cox, son of Allen H. Cox of Cambridge, was a member of the class of 1928 at Harvard where he belonged to Spee and Signet clubs. . . He later studied painting and architecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. . . and designed and constructed most of the lavish backdrops for the first Modern Arts Ball in Boston a year ago last May. . .

Marion Davies In Air Drama Tonight at 9

Film Star to Re-enact
Her Famous Role in
'Peg O' My Heart'

Stars by the score from the film and broadcasting realm in Hollywood will be in attendance tonight for the presentation of the "Lux Radio Theatre" hour on the air starring Marion Davies in "Peg O' My Heart," the colorful J. Hartley Marmora story.

Preparations have been made for a standing room only situation and it is likewise a case of sitting room capacity audience from coast to coast when the Columbia Broadcasting System feature is staged by Cecil B. DeMille between 9 and 10 o'clock this evening.

It will be broadcast through the New England area by WEEI, Worcester, and WEEB, Boston.

ADAPTATION FROM SCREEN
Adaptation has been made from the screen production. The many friends and cinema co-workers of Marion Davies in Hollywood are eager to be present to witness as well as to see the popular star in the role of "Peg," which she portrayed so vividly in the screen setting of the same play.

Brian Aherne, the handsome leading man cast opposite Marion Davies for the radio impression and Mr. DeMille has also placed the famous screen players from Hollywood film fraternity to be heard in the supporting parts.

SPECIAL SELECTION
Miss Davies was chosen for the role of "Peg" in the romantic air drama following the strong impression which the picture made upon her when she first saw it at the play at the Reg on the water scene.

It is one of the many Davies has provided a picture of a woman who is not only a beautiful actress but also a great actress and a great actress.

In addition to those mentioned the complete cast comprises: Benita Hume, Gerald Oliver Smith, Allen Frazee, J. Farrell MacDonald, Eric Snowden, Doree Lloyd, Edgar Norton, Wallace Roberts and Michael Pittman.

THIS IS LIFE

By Robert E. Rogers

Robert E. Rogers

As a personal item the news of the death of Lillian Baylis in England means nothing to Americans. Even if I were to add that she was the founder of the "Old Vic" Theater in London, probably few would know enough about the "Old Vic" to take any interest. To anyone absorbed in the theater as an institution, however, there should be at least a little.

We have nothing exactly like the "Old Vic" in America, which, perhaps a pity over fifty years ago it was an ancient and distinguished music hall in the Waterloo Road of London's "South end," which was a vicious slum section. Miss Baylis and her aunt took it over and founded there a great, popular, peace revery theater, specializing in Shakespeare and the classics, not to mention opera.

She made out of it the nearest approach to a national theater England ever had, nearer even than the Shakespeare Memorial Theater in Stratford-on-Avon.

John Drinkwater of "Abraham Lincoln" fame was connected with it. Maurice Evans, recently seen in "Richard III," got his training in Shakespearean and modern revery theater. John Gielgud, the sensational Hamlet of last season, had his acting start in the "Old Vic."

And the early stage training of the great character film actor, Charles Laughton, of "The Private Life of Henry VIII" and "Mutiny on the Bounty," began under the extraordinary Miss Baylis. The theater was operated economically but was always to produce the best.

Woman Pioneer of Theaters Built Up Public, Dramatists

The "Old Vic" was one more example of a theater becoming an institution, the lengthened shadow not of a man but of a woman. When I was in college that distinction—so far as England was concerned—was held by Miss Horniman, who also died not so long ago.

Her Birmingham Repertory Company did yeoman work a generation ago in building up a public and a group of dramatists for the modern domestic drama, simple, realistic and thought-provoking, in the style of Galsworthy. John Drinkwater was in that, too. Masofield's "The Tragedy of Hamlet" was in the repertory. I once saw it beautifully played in Boston by that company.

But Miss Horniman did even more. She furnished the money for the start of the famous Abbey Theater in Dublin, whose second or third company (in point of time) is now successfully playing in New York. There early plays of William Butler Yeats, Lady Gregory, and John Synge were first produced.

Our nearest American parallel to the "Old Vic" was the "Birmingham Repertory Theater" founded a decade ago by Eva Le Gallienne and continued with conspicuous success for a number of years.

But repertory, in the real sense of the word, is pretty expensive to keep up. Miss Le Gallienne did pretty ambitious things, including "Hedda Gabler," "Peter Pan," "Anglo," the "Cradle Song" and various Russian and Scandinavian pieces.

Heavy fare, no doubt, but always excellently done. I was sorry to note the other day, that Miss Le Gallienne had disbanded her new company, and was in training at Westport, Connecticut, and was being subsidized by Mrs. Edward Bok, because she felt that she was unable to carry through her plan and she did not feel it right to continue to accept a subsidy for an experiment which she felt might not "sell."

Heavy Theatrical Fare Responsible for Failure

I am afraid her threatened list of plays was partially responsible for her failure. Indeed, "When We Dead Awaken," written in his extreme old age, when his mind was failing, is not very comfortable theatrical fare, and Ibsen's "John Gade Borkman," one of his least known and heaviest and dullest plays, is not much better.

But it was a pity, all the same, that Miss Le Gallienne had to move out of the metropolis and attempt what was after all something little better than a "little theater" experiment.

The "Old Vic" was financially successful. It apparently had the seeds of popularity in it. Its fame spread far beyond the audience for which it was founded.

It was a living proof that genius in management is at least as important as genius in acting. That was what we had in Boston in the old days of Winthrop Ames and of John Craig and Mary Young at the Castle Square. That is what we may have unfortunately, in the latter days of Boston's Repertory Theater.

Stage Bow at the Boston Frances Will Pay $25 for New Name

Somerville Girl Starts Stage Career After 3 Years in Hollywood

By ANN MARSTERS

All you have to do is start the wheels of your imagination turning round and round and think up a new name for Frances Grant.

If you submit the name which Frances herself selects, you will win $25.

Frances is the lovely Somerville girl who was christened Stella Theophane Porter. When she went to Hollywood she changed her name to Frances Grant.

And that is the name which you will see on the marquee of the Keith Boston theater, beginning this Thursday, where she will appear in a new play.

GIRL ABOUT TOWN

By Ann Marsters

Ann Marsters

This morning we're going to tell you something about two persons whom you have met many times as you go about the business of your everyday life. They are the street conductor and the motorman.

Most of them, you've noticed, are rather jolly individuals, who don't seem to mind how crowded the car gets. And they usually have a cheerful word to offer whenever there's an occasion for it.

As a matter of fact, the majority of conductors like the busmen's routes, because the time passes more quickly and they love the things happening.

Before they can be conductors and motormen, they must have three weeks of schooling. The first three days are spent in the car barns. Then they go out on actual service under the supervision of veterans.

The last three days of training are on the busy routes during rush hours, to accustom them to noise and excitement.

The driving of a street car isn't difficult to learn. It's the learning how to act in emergencies that's important. The men choose their own routes on the basis of seniority.

The company has figured out that 82 passengers in 100 will take transfers when they're offered. And a great many of them don't use them. Conductors don't pretend to be psychologists—but they can tell you what most people never fail to take something if they can get it for nothing—even though they don't want it.

Conductors pick up thousands of discarded transfers every year, and turn them into the car barns where they're bundled up and sold as old paper.

Hearst N. E. Finals Jam Arena Tonight

Winners to Compete in Easterns Next Week at Garden—Heavyweights
May Steel Show Tonight

By WALTER KILEY

The boxing capital of the nation tonight will be the Boston Arena.

There, during the New England Finals of the William Randolph Hearst All-American boxing championships, 46 two-fisted youths, with ring careers as professional boxers, meet in a series of 21 bouts of thrilling professional possibilities.

These boys, selected in the All-America contest from almost every section of New England, have had to win their spurs to arrive at the final stage of the title tourney.

Every boy fighting tonight is a top-notch amateur, the very cream of the crop from our section of the country.

The bouts tonight get underway at 7:15 sharp.

No prize has the interest of boxing become, so much promise in the line of action is held out, so victory must be the contestants, that it's almost a foregone conclusion the arena's seating capacity will be taken to the utmost.

Twenty-four bouts are listed in the eight opening divisions. Seven finals are slated for the novices.

Tonight marks the end of the All-America trail of 1937 for the novices.

The winners take their titles home with them and are awarded and leave the competition of the next two weeks to the "open" battlers, those who have failed.

THE HEARST ALL-AMERICA NEW ENGLAND FINALS WILL BE HELD AT BOSTON ARENA, TONIGHT—WITH 46 PROMISING AMATEUR BOXERS IN 31 BOUTS—ALL SEEKING TO ENTER THE NATL CHAMPIONSHIPS—

EASTERN FINALS NEXT

For every open winner tonight automatically qualifies for the Eastern finals of the All-America tourney to be held at Boston Garden next Monday when Baltimore, Washington, New York, Albany and Syracuse and their favorite sons, similar winners of qualifying tests, here to meet our Bostonians.

Climaxing and concluding the brilliant fighting show is the Grand National finals, to be held at the Garden on December 13, with the All-West, All-Mid-West, and All-South teams meeting our All-East champions in the blazing finale.

A glance at the entry list for tonight is enough to prove to the close observers that regardless of which of the entries win, there will be worthy representatives in the Garden bouts.

Big interest will center about the heavyweight class Hyde Park's big Frank Chindini will have his hands full in the field which looks most impressive now that Worcester's John McCarthy has been selected. Jim Prendable of Charlestown and Frank Mercurio of Hingham are also primed for victory.

Bears Set Back Rams to Take West Title

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (INS)—

Riding to victory on an icy field, the Chicago Bears seized undisputed championship of the National Football League's Western Division by vanquishing the hapless Cleveland Rams, 15 to 7, at Wrigley Field.

Four Bear stars of days gone by celebrated a homecoming by watching the game from the stands and sidelines.

The win left the Bears with a record of eight triumphs, one loss and a tie. Green Bay's Packers claimed themselves as competitors for the Bear by losing to the Washington Redskins at Washington.

Bill Karr scored for the Bears in the first period by grabbing a pass from Bronko Nagurski and loping 35 yards to the Cleveland goal line.

Soon afterward the Bears turned back a Ram touchdown threat on their own 15 yard line and marched 45 yards down the field for the second score. Bear Menders sent a place kick over the bar from 35 yards out in the third chapter, which gave the Bears three points to make up for the two they missed after touchdowns.

Cleveland snugged its counters in the third quarter. A farward lateral pass play from Ed Goddard to Sam Houston to Ralph Miller put the lead over. Bob Snyder place kicked for the extra point.

The Washington has met the leaders in his class, from 1936 down. He lost to Ross—everybody's doing it—but has kicked Harry Dickinson and other tough hombres.

It is by far the most severe test Zannelli has been subjected to in his home town, and whether he will go on to higher things or remain among the also-rans will probably be settled tonight.

Zannelli took a month's rest after the Jackson bout, and went into the ring against Pachu with only a week's gym work under his belt. He attributes this shortage of

Zannelli Tackles Furr In Providence Tonight

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 29 (INS)—

"The Ripper" Zannelli, who is shooting for a bout with Barney Ross, and Phil Furr of Washington, who already has met the world welterweight champion, will collide tonight in a ten-round bout before a packed house in the Auditorium.

Zannelli is a slight favorite with the home folks, who consider him his home town, and whether he will go on to higher things or remain among the also-rans will probably be settled tonight.

Zannelli took a month's rest after the Jackson bout, and went into the ring against Pachu with only a week's gym work under his belt. He attributes this shortage of work to his mediocre showing against the Coast fighter.

But he says that bout sharpened him for tonight's test, and is confident he will teach Furr some new tricks.

Schwenk Chosen To Lead Army

WEST POINT, Nov. 29 (INS)—

Schwenk of Schuylkill Haven, Pa., has been elected captain of the West Point football team for 1938. He is a fullback.

Villanova Ends With 25-0 Win On Coast

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29 (INS)—

Undefeated Villanova University became an outstanding candidate for one of the Bowl games on New Year's Day by smothering Loyola University, 25 to 0, at the Coliseum before a football crowd of 20,000 fans.

Maurice "Clipper" Smith, coach of the Wildcats, said that fine plans for the contemplated Villanova-Corvado game in New York on December 11 had not been completed.

Smith's squad scored two minutes after the game opened.

Max Lematina fumbled on his own 18 and it was recovered by Melvin of Villanova.

John Wyoski, All-America candidate, circled end to the five-yard line for a first down. Ray Sivovak, advanced to the one-yard and Stoppert went over.

The kick was blocked.

Villanova scored again in the second period when Field Judge W. K. Dunn ruled interference on a Loyola pass over the Loyola goal line. This put the ball in play on Loyola's one-yard line, from where Eagle went over.

The third score came a moment later when McKenna intercepted a Loyola pass, ran fifteen yards, lateraled to Stoppert, who was chased out on Loyola's six yard line. Raimo circled and for Villanova.

The kick was wild.

McKenna scored in the fourth period by going eighty yards in two plays. After an eight yard dash, Sivovak tossed a pass to Mowik, who lateraled to Melvin. The latter ran on the goal line, unopposed. The kick was low.

Coast Boys Fight For Boston Trip

Coast All-America Finals Staged Tonight
In Los Angeles—Winners Start
For Boston Wednesday

By BILL POTTS

Special to Boston Evening American

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29—Sweeping to one last desperate, decisive battle, the Tri-City All-America finals will be staged tonight at the Olympic stadium.

A spirit of reckless defiance emanated from the eager young fighters. 24 champions are to come to grips in the blue ribbon classic of amateur boxing on the Pacific Coast.

It's the best in the West—Seattle and San Francisco vs. Los Angeles—with eight round ring tickets to Boston the all-elite prize at stake.

Eight survivors, one in each division of tonight's heater slingers, await Wednesday for Boston, where on December 13 they'll meet in the Hearst All-America championships.

HOSHINO A "KILLER"
The ringing battle cry of the home guard was sounded tonight by Eddie Marcus, L. A. C. featherweight. Said Eddie grimly:

"Let 'em come. We've made up our minds to be in Boston before Christmas. And nobody's going to stop us."

Enthusiastic Eddie quit his job a month ago to make the supreme effort in the Los Angeles Examiner Golden Gloves tournament.

He drew first blood when he won the 126-pound title a week ago, and now he's on the trail of the All-America championship.

Hoshino is a Seattle boy who scored four straight knockouts to win the championship of the Great Northwest.

DEAF MUTE STAR
The Seattle team arrived this morning. In the group were Sewall Higgs, lightweight; Ken Lindsey, flyweight; Frank Chindini, heavyweight; Harold Hoshino, featherweight; Parker, bantam; Earl Doo, welterweight; Vern Earing, middleweight; Tim Meyer, light-heavy; and Royal Brumham, sports editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

San Francisco's cocky band of scrappers followed a few hours later.

Members of the party were George Grinnell, lightweight; Del Cline, flyweight; Maxie Teel, welterweight; Melvin, bantam; light-heavy; Manuel Giguere, featherweight; Jimmie Cozena, featherweight; Charles, bantam; Harold Blackshire, heavyweight; Trainers, Spiter Roush and Bill Postell.

"Silent Joe" Hill, the deaf mute with thunder in his gloves, is the heavyweight standard bearer of the local troupe.

Hill, who claims to have knocked out Louie Nova and had Bob Newman on the floor twice in a Mowik fight, is the most talked of heavyweight since the simon-pure days of Joe Louis.

CAPACITY CROWD

He became the talk of the tournament in his first fight which saw him rubbing out Sailer Paul Hawley in a round. He followed up with a two round knockout over Jerome Henry, the black butterfly, and finished Mickey McNamara in four bouts.

Hill then out-bugged the veteran Johnny O'Tara to win the Examiner championship.

They are Kent Roberts, welter; Herman Graves, middleweight, and Henry Mobley, light heavy.

A capacity crowd of 10,000 witnessed the above boys with their purses in the hard-way in the Examiner tournament, and it is anticipated that many will be turned away again tonight when the fun starts at 8:30.

Three fast-stepping, hard-hitting chocolate soldiers from Central avenue should also gather their share of the spoils.

on their own legs they have suddenly found that they have been walking on stilts so long that their knees are weak and their feet are numb.

In other words, the country has been left too long "up in the air."

them—but his quarrel at breakfast—and the wife's Waterloo! who asks for money before coffee has had time to settle, to be sure, but in a salutary way.

The wife who remembers to serve her husband's breakfast serene is a happy woman.

For peace and plenty will be her reward, and a little thing like this she has prepared for the Christmas shopping will fail to bring anything more than a frown.
